[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

EASTERN DATES TO APRIL 27.

THE CIVIL WAR IN FRANCE.

Insurrection in Algiers

LONDON April 26 —A correspondent at Versailles (Tuesday) says a member of the Assembly said the Algerian insurrection was most alarming Despatches were hourly received demanding aid The insurrection is an imitation of that in Paris, with the object of pillage

Picard replied that measures have been taken to suppress the outbreak, and that the accounts of the insurrection are exaggerated.

EASTERN STATES

Flood in Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS April 26 —At Kennerville In ning the water is pouring in from the river, while it is falling in front Drains on plantations in that vicinity are unserviceable, being choked up with the weight of the water Nothing has been received from Bonnet, Carre, or other crevasses

WASHINGTON CITY

Army Matters.

WASHINGTON April 26 —Col Thos D Pitcher, of the First Infantry, has been relieved from duty as Superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point Col Thomas C Ruger, of the 18th Infantry, is detailed as Superintendent of the Academy, and will assume charge

The Odd Fellows of the District of Columbia celebrated the 23d anniversary of the establishment of the Order in America by a procession and speeches

Twaddle about the Heathen Chinee.

NEW YORK, April 26 —A mass meeting of Crispins, including delegates from all parts of the United States, was held this evening in the Cooper Institute Speakers denounced the Burlingame treaty for sanctioning the introduction of Chinese labor criticised the New England capitalists who hold up their hands in horror at negro slavery and at the same time foster a more degrading system of slavery; urged the use of the ballot box and force to oppose the tide of Chinese immigration advocated the co operative labor system, and protested that remonstrances to Congress were practically unheeded so long as the subsidy to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company is continued Resolutions were adopted pledging the Crispins to use every legal means to effect the repeal of the Burlingame treaty promising persistent opposition to any party that will not guarantee the prohibition of Chinese slavery, holding speculators responsible for evils that may occur from it and calling upon all Trades Unions to unite against the introduction of Chinese labor

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO April 27 —The sentence of Mrs Fair is fixed for May 29th instead of April 29th, the counsel asking the fullest time possible to enable them to prepare application for a new trial They have saved about forty points on which they will file exceptions, most of them on rulings of the court on mere technicalities of no general interest

Gamblers, who are supposed to be generally well posted in such matters were offering to bet up to yesterday [illegible] that two of the jurors would never agree to conviction This created an impression that there had been something going on of which the court and public were not cognizant The Alta, Call and Chronicle all editorially endorse the verdict of the jury

About midnight last night Robert Tremaine and wife, who have not lived happily together for some time having had an unusually ugly falling out, started to the police office together to lay the matter before Captain Douglass On the way down Kearney street he drew a sheath knife and stabbed her three times, inflicting dangerous and it is feared fatal, wounds in the neck, breast and arm He was arrested and locked up for assault to murder.

General Buckingham and party arrived from the East yesterday

The rumor that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company has sold out its franchises in Mexico and Panama property to the North Pacific Transportation Company, which will hereafter run the line mainly with a view to the European and coastwise trade, receives more credence than heretofore

Unparalleled Depravity

The evidence in the Fair trial has developed a degree of depravity and moral turpitude such as is rarely met with in criminal jurisprudence It appears that Crittenden introduced his wife to his paramour, in order that the respectability of the former might protect the latter from scandal while the liaison was going on Afterwards the pair of adulterers made known the condition of things to the wretched wife, cooly requested her to leave, and eventually conspired to drive her off to get a divorce after thirty three years of domestic relations with the heartless man Certainly a man capable of such diabolical cruelty is well out of the world, and if he had been sent out by the hand of the worse than crucified wife, the jury would have had a shorter job than they have now

There can be no doubt that the open contempt in which the actors in that infamous tragedy held the marriage rite, resulting from the debasing influence of slavery where they came from, where so-called respectable men did not scruple to keep negro mistresses in their houses, or to sell their own mongrel grand-children The demon-like institution had cursed the land, and its feculent atmosphere had rotted the hearts of the people —Oakland (Cal) News

TO PREVENT SPRING SICKNESS —Dr Wood in the Herald of Health for April gives the reason why so many people are subject to a "bilious attack" every spring, and points out how the trouble may be avoided This periodical complaint is usually termed "spring sickness" We condense from the Doctor s remarks as follows

There is no more need of people getting sick in the spring than at any other time of the year This periodical sickness may easily be avoided by a little attention to diet

During the winter people eat larger quantities of carbonaceous food, such as fat meat butter, bread, etc,—the system naturally craving such diet more than during the summer to keep up the animal heat against the greater cold of winter As a general thing more is eaten than is necessary and as a consequence the system is clogged up, and the excretory organs, particularly the liver, is overburdened in vain efforts to get rid of it Those who lead sedentary lives, and get but little outdoor exercise generally suffer most

The difficulty is greatly hightened in the case of persons who continue this kind of diet late in the spring, after the system stands less in need of it

Now, to prevent this suffering a person should eat a smaller portion of the food mentioned, substituting instead, an increased quantity of vegetables and acid fruits. To this end persons of sedentary habits, especially should eat freely of canned fruits, when the natural fruit was unattainable [Such fruits, we may add should be put up in their own juice, exclusively not a particle of sugar should be added in the process of canning if sugar must be eaten with them at all it is better to sprinkle it over the fruit at the time of eating]

There is perhaps no one thing better calculated to prevent "spring sickness" than a free use during the winter and especially as spring approaches of tart apples eaten in any manner, cooked or raw—provided they are eaten as a part of the regular meals, and not between meals

Work on the Carter ditch in Baker county, is under way again Thirty or forty white men and four hundred Chinese, are employed

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

THE CIVIL WAR IN FRANCE.

More Heavy Fighting

PARIS, April 26, Evening —The Versailles batteries commenced firing vigorously to day along the whole line, and especially against the southern forts, which replied feebly Siege works are actively prosecuted The second parallel has been commenced The Communists have made several sallies to interrupt work, and desperate encounters have taken place at Bagneux, Clamart and Chatillon

A general attack on the forts is expected to night. The Commune has sent its best battalions to the south [illegible] Nevertheless it appears to be insufficient.

VERSAILLES, April 26, Evening —Fort Issy ceased replying at noon to-day, but the outer batteries continued firing The first parallel of the siege works was opened to day

In the Assembly M. Dufaure said the government was in favor of conciliation as soon as order was restored

NEW YORK, April 27 —A special correspondent telegraphed from Versailles last night There has been a bombardment of Fort Issy all day, and a breach is distinctly visible

The Prussians permit the Versaillists to erect batteries between the forts, but if the insurgents approach they will fire on them An attack upon Fort Issy has been arranged

LONDON, April 27 —A Daily News special says 6,000 Versaillists have executed important movements to the north The situation of the insurgents south is good

Active operations commenced yesterday Forts Vanvres and Issy were fired upon It is presumed Issy will soon be silenced

It is rumored there has been fighting at Asnieres The Versaillists failed to cross the bridge The guns on Fort Issy are dismounted, and Fort Montrouge is an utter wreck

PARIS, April 27 —The southern forts are badly damaged The Versaillist projectiles fall inside causing great slaughter

The Mot d'Ordre says the Communists will blow up the forts if necessary.

The Commune claims to have silenced a battery at Meudon, captured a barricade at Neuilly and dismounted five guns at Courbevoie The Commune sits secretly.

LONDON, April 27 —A Standard special dispatch says the Commune confess to a want of union, money and men The Nationals openly disobey orders It is believed the Commune will make a last stand in the Rues Rivoli and Castiglione

The sentence for disbanding the 105th battalion for cowardice is quashed

Fort Valerien is silent now and Montrouge will probably be stormed to day

The Commune has impressed the porters of the Lyons railway

Other European News

BERLIN, April 27 —The Loren Zeitung says that Bismarck has instructed Fabrice to represent to the Commune that in case of a mishap to the Archbishop of Paris the Prussians might probably interfere

LONDON, April 27 —A deficit of half a million francs has been discovered in the Swiss Treasury A prominent official has confessed to embezzlement

WASHINGTON CITY

The Joint High Commission

WASHINGTON, April 27 —The Joint High Commission terminated its labors at an early hour yesterday afternoon and adjourned The members will, however, meet again on the 3d of May to consider some minor matters preparatory to final dissolution as a commission The commissioners' labor has not been formally turned over to the State Department Everything will be furnished and ready for consideration at the cabinet meeting on Friday, May 5th at which time all members are expected to be present The members of the commission still refuse to indicate any points of the treaty, but it is stated that one or two Senators have been informed of certain agreements and are looking up facts and preparing speeches in opposition to the treaty Some of the English members of the commission will go to New York in a day or two, as will, also, Gen Schenck Judge Hoar leaves to morrow for Massachusetts

WASHINGTON April 27 —The Joint High Commissioners having yesterday taken a recess the interval will be occupied in preparing the necessary drafts and reducing to shape the result of the negotiations as far as they have gone It is thought the general principles of settlement have been agreed upon but the plan has not yet acquired form There is little if any doubt that the fisheries and the navigation of canals and river St Lawrence have been considered as separate questions, but the details have not yet been arranged These subjects together with the principles on which the claims against Great Britain are to be settled, and the arbitration of the San Juan question will all be embraced in one treaty to be submitted to the Senate

The Herald special says the retirement of Mr Fish from the State Department is no longer a matter of doubt. He has made all arrangements to leave here on the 1st of June The house in which he resides, and which belongs to Governor Morgan, has been leased to another party possession to be given June 1st

NEW YORK, April 27 —A Washington special discredits the report that the subject of annexation of San Domingo is to be brought up at an extra session of the Senate

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27th —Arrival of French ship Aconcagua, 160 days from Bordeaux, Mdse to A E Sabatie & Co

The ticket of the Royal Havana Lottery extraordinary, drawn April the twenty fifth, drawing the one hundred thousand dollar prize was sold in San Francisco, it is asserted positively, but probably the fact is, that there is one thousand tickets in this drawing, retailing at sixty dollars, each, it being a double scheme held in San Francisco

It is reported that among notables from the east who will certainly arrive here within a few weeks, are Col Jim Fisk Gould and some twenty New York Aldermen and Politicians of the Tammany school

Drying north wester continues, the weather being so cold, as to make overcoats almost indispensible

THE TERRITORIES

Stock raisers are driving herds into the country between Snake and Spokane rivers. [illegible],000 head have been crossed over since last fall from this side

Lake Pend d Oreille is now open for navigation, and the steamer Mary Moody Capt Julien, is making regular trips between Cabinet Landing and Pend d Oreille City

From the Helena (Montana) Herald From all sections of the Territory we receive the intelligence that as much snow, if not more, now lies in the mountains as did in the spring of 1862 This is not only cheering news to Montanians but to all who are interested in the navigation of the Upper Missouri—as it assures both a successful mining season and high water for boating

The Olympia Tribune isn t satisfied with the land subscriptions at that place It says that nearly half the lands donated are so remote to be valueless and would be of little use to the railroad company, and will have still less influence in bringing a railroad to Olympia The Olympians hold on to their land with as much tenacity as if they were reserving it religiously and affectionately as a grand burying ground And such it may prove to be.

The cleanest city in the world is said to be Broch, in Holland where no horse or carriage has ever been permitted to enter, and where everything is kept with most unscrupulous neatness Before entering many of the houses you are required to remove your shoes It is said that even the Emperor of Russia was compelled to comply with this custom on his recent visit to that place

OREGON.

The Presbyterians at Salem are erecting a new church edifice

It is said that three million brick will be made at the Penitentiary this season

The Statesman learns that the Ellendale Woolen Factory in Polk county was destroyed by fire on Tuesday night No particulars are received The loss must be heavy

Judge Boise, it is said, will on vacating the Bench, settle down to the practice of law in Salem The Statesman mentions a rumor that Judge Prim will also resign

From the Statesman We understand that John F Miller and Joseph Hoyt are going extensively into the business of buying wool and shipping it to Boston, a business at which considerable money was made last year Sacks have already been shipped up the country for that purpose

A report has been made of the probable cost of constructing a mining ditch leading into the higher mineral lands about Jacksonville The ditch is to carry water from Emigrant Creek, a distance of sixty miles Estimated cost $42 000 For irrigation, as well as for mining purposes, such a ditch would be invaluable to Jackson county

CALIFORNIA ITEMS

A convention of dead beats and bummers, too lazy to work, is in session at San Francisco Members make windy speeches denouncing the "ruinous competition of Chinese labor" Matter of course

The Sacramento Union says the business of silk culture in that vicinity appears to have passed to a great extent into the hands of Italians and Frenchmen, thoroughly acquainted with the business They have leased all the cocooneries in that vicinity

The San Joaquin Valley Argus (Dem) declares that the nomination of Haight "will give the State over to the Republicans for the next four years," and adds that "If he is the nominee, the bolters will be numbered by thousands and the Republican ticket will be enabled to walk over the course and win an easy victory "

The Alta California, in an article on the "Industrial Condition of the State," mentions the fact that 400 Chinamen having arrived at Gilroy to work on the Southern Pacific Railroad which Chinamen have been heretofore working on the California and Oregon Railroad The Alta says, according to a map in the new Oakland pamphlet, the California and Oregon Railroad will follow up the valley of Pitt River, turning northward near Shasta, and passing one hundred miles eastward of Yreka.

There are various gangs of outlaws in San Francisco who are known as "Hoodlums," who seem likely to make their mark in their day and generation Their ranks are generally composed of boys and young men between the ages of fourteen and twenty five years who have no visible occupation and who steal for a living and fight for amusement Their programme for the present season appear to be to attend picnic excursions create rows, and stab, shoot or slung shot those who happen to cross their path

The Immigration

They who have been foretelling a great rush of people to Oregon this year are not disappointed in their predictions The press of travel on the steamers from San Francisco is unprecedented since the excitement some years ago about the northern gold mines But the present emigration is every way more promising than any rush, however great after gold The people now coming among us in such large numbers are not roving adventurers looking for sudden fortune and irking at the slower but more sure and useful methods of industry, but they are the substantial, industrious people of the country, who come here expecting to make homes and to be content with the quiet prosperity which their industry will bring them. Yesterday many persons who came with the very large number that arrived by the steamer Idaho were eagerly inquiring at the numerous real estate offices in the city for information in regard to various parts of the State, making examinations of maps with a view to obtaining general knowledge of the leading geographical features of Oregon and Washington Territory, inquiring the prices of lands in different localities, seeking information as to proposed routes of railroads, and asking where unoccupied lands could be obtained Quite a number made preparations at once to start for different places up the Wallamet valley with a view to taking homesteads or purchasing farms A most encouraging and promising feature of the immigration is the large number of families arriving And it is very agreeable to see that they get here in so much better condition than that which the weary, travel-worn immigrants who used to arrive after a toilsome journey across the plains, were accustomed to present

The reports which those now arriving uniformly bring are to the effect that the emigration to this quarter is but just fairly beginning, and may be expected to assume much greater proportions Of those who come overland by rail a large proportion are destined for Oregon, and their arrival in California at this season of the year, when the fields are parched with drought and a certain failure of crops in many districts is the first thing that strikes their attention, confirms them in their purpose to come to Oregon Many also who have resided for years in California are thoroughly discouraged with prospects there, and are looking in this direction where drought and its disastrous consequences are unknown These people as fast as they can arrange their affairs, intend coming to Oregon So that, what with the tide from the Eastern States, augmented by that from California, we may reasonably expect a very large addition to our population during the present year Such an immigration will infuse new life and vigor into Oregon Its effects will speedily be felt in all branches of industry and trade. It is the immigration, more than railroads or any other great improvements whatever—vast as is their utility—that will help Oregon forward and introduce the "new era" that we have all been so long waiting for

A Hint of a Great Danger.

The ex rebels still hope that an opportunity will [illegible] by they can obtain compensation from the United States for the loss of their late slaves. This result is, of course, hoped for through the agency of the Democratic party. The Richmond Whig tries to make out a case for compensation by pretending that the kind hearted Lincoln, were he now President, would recommend this policy to Congress and it contains a mock message from him to that effect The whole gist of the "message" which President Lincoln might have prepared, is contained in the following paragraph > Entertaining no feelings of resentment toward any portion of my country, and obeying a sense of duty I now recommend that Congress appropriate no less than three thousand millions of dollars for the relief of the late slaveholding States that this sum of three thousand millions be paid in United States bonds bearing six per cent interest, payable semi annually, and the bonds to be redeemable in thirty years from their date, that of these three thousand millions, fifteen hundred millions shall be paid to the late slaveholders as indemnity for the loss of their slaves, apportioned to each State according to the slave census of 1860 and of the remaining fifteen hundred millions, one hundred millions shall be paid permanently as a school fund, the interest of which shall be applied exclusively to the maintenance and support of free schools in said States. The remaining fourteen hundred millions shall be distributed per capita to the colored race.

The rest of the "message" is devoted to an argument to prove the justice of such a measure It does no harm to attribute the supposititious document to President Lincoln, though it is a [illegible] perversion of truth to suppose that he would be capable, if living, of such a recommendation The chief point to be noticed in connection with the Whig's article is the fact that it shows so plainly in what direction the Southern mind runs, and what that mind will insist on if the Democratic party should ever come into power

It is no use trying to predict what will happen next Sumner's speeches coming to Oregon by the cart load, under Kelly's frank, is the last startling development in politics. How fond Kelly has become of Sumner, to be sure! Now let him go in resolutely for Sumner for President and Fred. Douglass for Vice President Should these nominations be made, Kelly and his party would be equal to the emergency. Think of the present situation Sumner's speeches circulating as Democratic campaign documents, by such men as Kelly! Who will presume to say that Sumner and Douglass would be an impossible Democratic ticket,—that is if Douglass would consent to go in that company?

The advent into the State of one hundred to two hundred voters by each weekly steamer, three-quarters of whom are Republicans, may serve as a gentle notice to Price's rebels to swamp and school land rings and to Democratic grabbers of all degrees who have been revelling in spoils for some time that they may as well be getting ready to wind up their business. Oregon henceforth will be a Republican State

A friend calls our attention to the fact that the Republicans had but twelve members in the Legislature in 1860, instead of fourteen as we stated yesterday. Less than one-quarter of the members who sat during that session were Republicans, yet some of the Democratic papers are blaming the Republican party for neglecting the school lands at that time Will the Roseburg Plaindealer take notice?

Rev D. K. Nesbit, of Corvallis, delivered his lecture on "Shoddy," before the Biblical Temperance Society of Buena Vista, last Thursday night, to a full house Everybody unites in praise of the lecture

A Righteous Verdict.

Mrs Fair is convicted of a crime the penalty of which is death, and there is a general expression of satisfaction. The conviction was hailed, both for the fulfillment of justice and for its effect on society at large. It will furnish a salutary check to the loose tendencies of the times, and give free lovers, adulterers and all that class who vaunt their own infamy and poison society by their lewd example, a much needed lesson They who make bold to practice the abominations of Babylon and pretend that their harlotry has justification in the law of reason and the doctrine of "natural affinity" may well take notice of this righteous verdict.

Any other verdict would have been a blow to good morals and to social order Both the woman and the man were guilty of a gross and outrageous social and moral offense, and they were equally guilty The murderess cannot pretend that she was deceived and betrayed, and that there is an excuse on this ground for her bloody vengeance She well knew that Crittenden was a married man, and that she ought receive no attentions from him It was criminal in her to listen to his promise that he would obtain a divorce from his lawful wife, and then marry the mistress The pretense that she was deceived, imposed upon and ruined is too shallow to meet with anything but contempt A woman four times married, and some of whose husbands are living, a woman with large experience in the world derived from travel and from personal knowledge of many of the worst ways of men and women is not exactly the creature to be "ruined" in such a manner. It is not quite a case of unsuspecting innocence, corrupted and debauched by male villainy

Her victim deserved his fate, but that does not palliate his murder at the hands of her who was equally criminal with him They both committed an offense which should be without pardon, and both, as is fit, suffer for it It is well that such a social crime as that of which they were guilty should lead to its own punishment Were it not for retribution like this and the practical influence of its deterrent lessons, the rankest social corruption and social crimes, running all within, would infest everywhere and especially all urban communities until, as of old the destruction of such communities by direct visitation of the Almighty would be the only means of their purification. The lesson of this tragedy, ending as it does with the quickly rendered and decisive verdict of the jury, is a hopeful sign, and will surely exert a wholesome influence against the lustful communism which the advocates of free love, so-called, proclaim, as well as against other phases of the abomination known as the social evil

The land fever seems to have reached Yamhill county Yesterday we saw a letter from there which stated that some of the landowners had suddenly doubled their prices, and in some cases as high as $45 per acre was asked This, in the present state of the country, is quite absurd It will be several years yet before such figures can be sustained A year or two hence will be a good time to buy land in Washington or Yamhill

A Buena Vista correspondent sends the following The farmers in this section of country are putting in every available acre into wheat and oats and every horse that can stretch a trace is pressed into the service. Hands are scarce Business of all kinds is promising

Antidotes against Melancholy

Mr. Collier's latest reprint is the old book of 1661, entitled "An Antidote Against Melancholy made up in Pills—Compounded of Witty Ballads, Jovial Songs and Merry Catches" Several of the pieces it contains are well known—one in particular "A Ballad or Parly between Two West-Country Men, on sight of a Wedding," is the one which has the stanza—

Her feet, beneath her petticoat,
Like little mice stole in and out
As if they feared the light
But, Dick, she dances such a way,
No sun upon an Easter day
Is half so fine a sight

Another ballad, beginning "Am I mad, O noble Festus" may be found in Percy's Reliques so may the ballad of "St George for England" but the copy here printed differs widely from that in Percy, both in its readings and in the arrangement of the stanzas The whole book is a clear illustration of what was considered highly humorous three centuries ago It abounds in loud, boisterous joviality and beer-praising merriment, interspersed with much lively and real wit, but is altogether regardless of decency of expression. The praise of "A Pot of Good Ale" has some capital stanzas, three of which we here quote

The poor man will praise it, so hath he good cause
That all the year eats neither partridge nor quaile
But sets up his rest, and makes up his feast,
With a crust of brown bread, and a pot of good ale

And the good old clarke whose sight waxeth dark
And ever he thinks the print too small
He will see every letter, and say service better
If he glaze but his eyes with a pot of good ale.

The poet divine that cannot reach wine
Because that his money doth many times faile,
Will hit on the vein to make a good strain,
If he be but inspired with a pot of good ale

The very rare Shakesperian word "Incarnardine" occurs at page 70 but it is used as the name of a French red wine Here is a stanza

In love! tis true, with Spanish wine,
Or the French juice, Incarnadine,
But truly not with your sweet face,
This dimple or that hidden grace.
There's far more sweetness in pure wine
Than in those lips or eyes of thine

France

THE "RED" PLAN FOR PAYING THE INDEMNITY

The French Journal Official, of March 24 contains a letter, which is printed in large type in which the writer points the equity and possibility of compelling the owners of property in France to bear exclusively the burden of meeting the German indemnity He divides the population into five classes ranging from extreme opulence to the lowest poverty, and sets forth their possessions in due arithmetical progression The total value of the entire real and personal property in France he estimates at 310 milliard In the possession of the first class comprising 7,200 000 households and including workmen's clothes and tools, he reckons ten milliards or £400 000,000 The second class of 3,600 000 households, comprising workmen on their own account and laborers with small possessions of land, is credited with twenty milliards or £800 000 000 sterling The third class the smaller shopkeepers and retail traders, taken as representing 1 600,000 families, with a total property of forty milliards or £1 600,000 000 sterling The fourth class—the wholesale traders and upper middle classes are assumed to possess property worth eighty milliards, or £3,200,000,000 sterling while the fifth class, including the great land owners and capitalists, and comprising 450,000 families, is represented as possessing property of the aggregate value of 160 milliards, or £6,400,000,000 sterling The writer concludes from this statement, that the proper course to pursue is "to impose a tax of three or four per cent upon the fortunes of the last mentioned class, which is comprised in great part of the organizers or the favorites of the Imperial banditti, and by that means the amount required to satisfy German rapacity will be easily raised."

LATE PLOWING —A correspondent asks us what we think of late plowing. Plowing should not be continued later than ten or eleven o'clock at night. It gets the horses in the habit of staying out late, and unduly exposes the plow We have known plows to acquire spring halt and inflammatory rheumatism from late plowing Don't do it

The San Francisco Bulletin says the number of Chinese in California has decreased twelve per cent during the last year Democratic demagogues there have ceased their pitiful howls about Chinese immigration, and the subject will not be mentioned in the coming campaign

In the early part of the present month the California Cotton Growers and Manufacturers Association was incorporated in San Francisco, stipulating for an existence of twenty five years The association proposes to locate in the Valley of the San Joaquin, reserving for its purposes about 25 000 acres of land It is intended to erect a cotton mill and to manufacture domestic cottons, prints, express oil from cotton seed, and to make oil cake for cattle feed

HOW TO DETECT CHICORY IN GROUND COFFEE —Pure coffee when sprinkled on the surface of water, remains there for some time, and does not sink but if chicory is present it will almost immediately sink, and tinge the liquid a brownish yellow Again—Chicory contains so much gummy matter that if the fingers be moisted and a little of the suspected coffee be taken up between them, and well pressed together, it can be moulded into a slightly adhering pilelet, while pure coffee will not adhere at all

CITY.

[illegible] STREET AND THE RAILROAD [illegible] has been manifesting itself for several days [illegible] the proposition for running [illegible] through Fourth street. Those who presented [illegible] remonstrance presented to the Common Council [illegible] protest that they do not oppose the railroad [illegible] only object to the idea of giving up the street [illegible] the railroad company to do as they please with [illegible]. They do not want locomotives to be run through the street nor do they desire the grades as now established to be changed in a manner to interfere with their property They are willing that the track shall be laid down, but want to restrict the company to the use of horses in drawing cars through the city This is the main [illegible] they deem themselves entitled [illegible] hearing This of course will be [illegible] and properly. The names appended [illegible] remonstrance carry weight and the property represented is too considerable to be treated [illegible]. The reasons assigned [illegible] right of way should not be granted as asked [illegible] company, would apply as well [illegible] any other street and if they are sufficient [illegible] case they might be prohibited from [illegible] at all into the city and thereby [illegible] scheme of having a west side railroad [illegible] within the city may be endangered [illegible] defeated All concerned had better [illegible] serious consideration

ARRIVING —The tide of immigration of which we have been hearing for several months has already begun to flow Every of the last several [illegible] brought many people who come to stay [illegible] landed yesterday morning [illegible] large number of new comers They [illegible] many of them with families and are [illegible] farms They are people who have [illegible] in the Western States and will [illegible] bring some money to invest A gentleman [illegible] came up on the Idaho informs us that [illegible] for passage to Oregon [illegible] and was never exceeded [illegible] passenger movement except during the great [illegible] excitements of a few years ago [illegible] applied at the steamship office [illegible] after every state room [illegible] berth in the steerage of the Idaho had been [illegible]. When told that they could [illegible] sleeping accommodations [illegible] reply that they must go [illegible] the trip and they would take [illegible] or steerage floor Thus when the ship [illegible] at night the cabin and [illegible] literally covered with sleepers [illegible] Oregon are constant [illegible] steamer shall sail the same scramble [illegible] passage [illegible] be re enacted

FREE LOVE AND ITS VOTARIES [illegible] The book contains nearly five hundred pages and [illegible] engravings [illegible] will repay perusal

MR PUNSHON'S LECTURE [illegible] this evening will arrive by the [illegible] to be one of his best efforts and was delivered in San Francisco in Platt's Hall [illegible] a few weeks ago No single tickets [illegible] but the admittance fee can be paid at the door Tickets for reserved pews may be had of E W Cornell at Harris & Holman's [illegible] as will be seen by the advertisement in [illegible] column

A NEW THOROUGHFARE —The people who have [illegible] to drive teams from the country [illegible] Portland will be glad to learn that [illegible] improvement is to be [illegible] the base line road [illegible] planked over the ground [illegible] road is worse either, the improvement [illegible] undoubtedly attract the greater part of the travel from the country bound to Portland [illegible] effect of the improvement and diversion of travel will be to enhance the value of property in the neighborhood of the railroad depot and ferry

PORTLAND LIBRARY —The following new books have been received

Lanston Parsonage a tale in three parts [illegible] by Rev W Sewell D D Fellow [illegible] College Oxford and author of "Amy Herbert" "Gertrude" "Margaret Percival" etc

The Earthly Paradise a poem in four parts by William Morris, author of "The Life and Death of Jason"

History of the Bible Its Origin, Truth and Divinity illustrated with fine steel engravings by J E Stebbins

SCHOOL MEETING —We are requested to remind the property holders and voters of District No [illegible] that the adjourned school meeting will be held next Monday evening at the central school house The directors will at that meeting report upon the matter of the purchase of school house sites and the special committee appointed to examine the accounts of officers for the past four years will submit their report The meeting is therefore likely to be an important one

STEAMERS TO SAIL —The steamship Idaho will sail to-morrow (Saturday at 4 o'clock P M for San Francisco The Geo S Wright will sail at the same hour for Sitka touching at San Juan and Nanaimo

For the month of May the sailing days of the N P T Co's line between Portland and San Francisco will be as follows From San Francisco on the 3d, 9th 17th and 24th from Portland on the 8th 17th 24th and 31st

WRESTLING JOE OUT OF LUCK —We learn that on Wednesday evening the old man known as Wrestling Joe Rost at Oregon City was the victim of [illegible] of $2 900 in legal tenders, from a belt which he wore upon his person He knows nothing of the manner of its loss, but as the belt was found to have been ripped open it is pretty generally thought that some dextrous thief relieved him of it

CASCADE MOUNTAIN WAGON ROAD —A party of surveyors and workmen left here yesterday under charge of Mr Milton Hale and Mr [illegible] Humphrey to survey and complete the Cascade mountain wagon road which starts from Albany via Lebanon The road has been made and accepted to a point beyond Camp Harney

THE GOOSE CHASE —We are informed by Mr Cooke that excursion trains will run from up country to East Portland on Sunday morning and an excursion steamer will come up from below [illegible] a distance to witness the [illegible] voyage [illegible] and the great rope walking feat

[illegible] —The old Turn Verein building was yesterday wheeled [illegible] resting place at the corner of Morrison and Ninth street It has had a long but [illegible] twelve blocks from its starting place

GARROTERS ARRESTED —J. W. Williams and Charles Godfrey have been arrested on the charge of being implicated in the late garroting [illegible] William Scott the man committed on the charge Wednesday, implicates them

BAND UNIFORM —The East Portland cornet band will hereafter appear on parade occasions in a neat uniform just completed We learn the boys are attaining to excellent proficiency Their enterprise deserves success

[illegible] AND THE RAILROAD.—Some [illegible] agitating itself for several days [illegible] for running the rail- [illegible] who prepared [illegible] to the Common Coun- [illegible] do not oppose the railroad, [illegible] object to the idea of giving up the street [illegible] company to do as they please with [illegible] want it to be run through [illegible] they desire the grades as now [illegible] to be changed in a manner to interfere [illegible]. They are willing that the [illegible] be laid down, but want to restrict the [illegible] to the use of horses in drawing cars [illegible] city. This, in the main, is their po- [illegible] they deem [illegible] entitled to a re- [illegible] This, of course, will be awar- [illegible]. The names appended [illegible] carry weight, and the pro- [illegible] is too considerable to be treated [illegible], assigned, however, why [illegible] should not be granted as asked [illegible], would apply as well in re- [illegible] other street and if they are sufficient [illegible] they must be in another; thus [illegible] be prohibited from running [illegible] at all into the city and thereby [illegible] of having a west side railroad [illegible] the city may be endangered, if [illegible] All concerned had better [illegible] also, into serious consideration.

The tide of immigration of which [illegible] hearing for several months, has al- [illegible] begun in earnest. Each of the last several [illegible] many people who come to stay, [illegible] yesterday morning an ad- [illegible] of new comers. They [illegible], with families and are in [illegible]. They are people who have sold [illegible] States, and who, there- [illegible] to invest. A gentleman [illegible] the Idaho, informs us that the [illegible] to Oregon is almost unprece- [illegible] never exceeded by any similar [illegible], except during the great [illegible] of a few years ago. Great [illegible] at the steamship office for pas- [illegible] every state room in the cabin and [illegible] the steerage of the Idaho had been [illegible] sold that they could not possibly [illegible] variations, the applicants [illegible] they must go, couldn't lay over [illegible] and they would take the chances on [illegible] floor. Thus, when the ship [illegible] the cabin and steerage floors [illegible] with sleepers. The arri- [illegible] are constant, and when the next [illegible] the same scramble for passage [illegible].

FREE LOVE AND ITS VOTARIES."—This is the [illegible] book by Dr. John Ellis—a well [illegible] account of the rise and progress [illegible] free love associations of the United [illegible] merely for the purpose of [illegible] morals of that class of [illegible] the sanctity of the in- [illegible] and the author has hit upon [illegible] argument in support of his [illegible] of the practical workings of [illegible]. The statements of the [illegible] the experiences of people who [illegible] the communists and free lovers; [illegible] with them and witnessed their [illegible] who, therefore, speak by the [illegible] is descriptive somewhat, as [illegible] the matter is plentifully [illegible] of personal experiences. [illegible] five hundred pages and [illegible]. Mrs. Judge Bill- [illegible] author of "Joaquin, et al.," is [illegible] city for the sale of the book.

[illegible]—Mr. Punshon, who [illegible] will arrive by the Mon- [illegible] this afternoon. A large number of [illegible] were sold yesterday and it is [illegible] that by this evening the pews will [illegible] this way, but arrangements have [illegible] at least 300 besides those who [illegible]. Advices from Oregon city and [illegible] that quite a number may be ex- [illegible] places to day. The lecture on "Daniel in Babylon"—is [illegible] best efforts and was delivered [illegible] in Platt's Hall to a crowded au- [illegible] age. No single tickets are [illegible] fee can be paid at the [illegible] reserved pews may be had of [illegible] Harris & Holman's book store, [illegible] by the advertisement in another [illegible].

[illegible]—The people who have [illegible] from the country to East [illegible] be glad to learn that the Holladay [illegible] is to be continued till it [illegible] line road. As it is to be [illegible] ground most likely to be bad [illegible] the improvement will un- [illegible] the greater part of the travel [illegible] bound to Portland. [illegible] of May the sailing days of the [illegible] Co's. line between Portland and San [illegible] be as follows: From San Fran- [illegible] the 3d, 9th, 17th and 24th; from Port- [illegible] the 8th, 17th, 21th and 31st.

[illegible] Jo" OUT OF LUCK.—We learn [illegible] Wednesday evening the old man known [illegible] "Bag Jo" lost at Oregon city the sum [illegible] legal tenders, from a belt which he [illegible] his person. He knows nothing of the [illegible] of its loss, but as the belt was found to [illegible] open, it is pretty generally thought that [illegible] thief relieved him of it.

[illegible] MOUNTAIN WAGON ROAD.—A party [illegible] and workmen left here yesterday [illegible] charge of Mr. Milton Hall and Mr. N. [illegible] to survey and complete the Cascade [illegible] road, which starts from Albany [illegible]. The road has been made and ac- [illegible] point beyond Camp Harney.

[illegible] QUEEN.—We are informed by Mr. [illegible] excursion trains will run from up [illegible] to East Portland on Sunday morning, [illegible] will come up from Ka- [illegible] thus affording an opportunity for people at [illegible] witness the novel voyage in a wash [illegible] at rope walking feat.

[illegible] EDEN.—The old Turn Verein Hall [illegible] was yesterday wheeled on to its future [illegible] at the corner of Morrison and Ninth [illegible]. It has had a long but fortunate journey [illegible] from its starting place.

[illegible] ARRESTED.—Dick Williams and [illegible] have been arrested on the charge [illegible] in the late garroting case. [illegible] Scott, the man committed on the charge [illegible] implicates them.

[illegible] CORNET.—The East Portland cornet [illegible] will hereafter appear on parade occasions [illegible] just completed. We hear that [illegible] to exhibit great proficiency. [illegible] success.

[illegible] CONTRACT.—It is said that Mr. J. [illegible] is the successful bidder for the [illegible] the first twenty five miles of [illegible] Pacific Railroad, from Kalama [illegible].

AMUSEMENTS.

THE GREAT BILLIARD EXHIBITION.—Messrs. Rudolphe and Dion having arrived by the steamer Idaho, they will appear in their first exhibition game of billiards, at the skating rink this evening. The first game—three ball carom game of 150 points—will commence at 8 o'clock. This will be followed by a four ball carom game of 500 points. At the conclusion of the latter game Mr. Rudolphe will exhibit some of his "fancy shots." These are mostly such performances as would seem to an ordinary player utterly impossible of execution. He will execute caroms with the teeth, the nose, the eyes blindfolded, with two cues, etc., etc. He plays one ball diagonally against a cushion, and it then performs an eccentric semicircle, cushions twice, and then with another semicircle caroms on the other two balls. He plays a ball nearly the whole length of the table, and without touching the cushion it suddenly reverses its direction with a short curve and caroms on the other two balls. He places two balls near the center of the table and from the head of the table plays, making the cue ball describe a half circle and caroming on the opposite side of the other two. Another shot is to carom on a ball lying against the cushion, the cue ball coming up the cushion and striking it five or six times at wide angles. These are only a few of his fantastic and wonderful shots, but they will suffice to show to what astonishing degree of skill he has attained. The hall has been fitted to comfortably seat all who may attend these interesting exhibitions. A band of music will be present to enliven the occasion. No bar will be kept on or about the premises, as it is expected and desired that the ladies will grace the hall with their presence. Proper precautions have been taken to secure perfect order, and the exhibition will be so conducted as to be an elegant as well as artistic entertainment. The engagement of these great champions of the ball and cue is only for four nights, and those who desire to see two of the most skillful players of the world should, therefore, lose no time in engaging seats.

MAGIC.—There was only a fair audience at Miss Cora's entertainment last evening, at Oro Fino Theater. The tricks were the same she displayed on the last two or three evenings, and the audience seemed best pleased when she came to the distribution of the presents. When are we to have a change of programme? A dozen tricks, however well played, every evening in the week, afford hardly sufficient variety for the rather sparse show going population of this city.

BENEFIT TO MISS MINNIE PIXLEY.—This talented young artiste will take a benefit at Oro Fino Theater next Wednesday evening. The programme of the entertainment has not yet been prepared, but we are authorized to say that it will be a varied and entertaining bill, and that a number of volunteers of the first talent in the city will appear.

RED MEN'S BALL.—The first annual ball of Multnomah Tribe of Red Men came off at the Washington Guard's hall last evening. There were present a considerable number of ladies and gentlemen, and the affair was admirably conducted.

Our Steam Marine.

HIGHLY FAVORABLE SHOWING—THE STEAM MARINE OF THE UNITED STATES FAR EXCEEDS THAT OF GREAT BRITAIN.

[From the San Francisco Commercial Herald.]

Mr. Mimmo, Chief of the Tonnage Division, United States Treasury Department, has released certain facts, and given the figures for them, which go to show that our steam tonnage is by no means at so low an ebb as thousands have been induced to believe from the unsupported averments of the press. In fact, there is good cause for sincere gratulation in the points so clearly established by the head of the Tonnage Bureau. It appears that our entire steam tonnage, including the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, the great Northern lakes, the Gulf of Mexico, the Mississppi and its tributaries, and other inland waters of the United States, exceeds that of the total steam marine of the British Empire. The figures are as follows: On our lakes, 142,973 tons; Western rivers, 202,011 tons; coast rivers, 383,670 tons—total inland, 768,654 tons. Our coasting trade, 212,000 tons; foreign trade, 74,441 tons—total seagoing, 286,441 tons—total United States steam tonnage, 1,075,095 tons. Per contra: British home trade, 302,941 tons; foreign trade, 644,080 tons; British Colonies, 86,168 tons—total British, 1,033,189 tons—leaving a small margin in our favor. It is worthy of note that the only foreign going steam tonnage of the United States is on the Pacific and sails from San Francisco, unless the connection between New York and Panama be considered separately. It is suggested that much improvement would be realized if we could, or would, banish wooden and side-wheel vessels, and convert the whole fleet into iron screw propellers. We do not agree with this view of the matter. Wooden side-wheelers are far better adapted to the navigation of our inland waters than iron screws. With the single exception of the great lakes, there is nothing to apprehend from storms. The waters of our rivers are almost unruffled in the severest gales. Improvements in ship-building are being so constantly made, that a vessel constructed of iron for inland navigation would become old-fashioned, and incapable of successful competition with those of newer models, before being half worn out. Side-wheelers on our rivers are much faster than propellers. No screw ever yet made can obtain the speed of the floating palaces which ply between New York and Albany; or on the Long Island Sound; on the Mississippi or the Ohio. Speed is a quality that cannot be sacrificed without entailing irreparable loss. Wooden craft are far cheaper than iron for the business indicated; are fully as safe, faster, and last sufficiently long for all purposes. An iron boat would be no more secure from explosion, grounding, or snagging than one of wood, and the loss would be far greater.

The impression has prevailed that our ship-building interests fell to the lowest point during the late civil war; but Mr. Nimmo shows that such impression is erroneous. During the last six years the amount of tonnage turned out for the home trade has been much larger than for any like period in our history. In 1859 we built 75,081 tons for domestic trade; in 1860, 115,841; in 1861, 131,592. The figures regularly increase to 326,095 in 1864; 266,837 in 1865, etc. The lowest point reached was in 1858–59–60, and is attributed to the commercial convulsions of 1857–1860. It was the same financial hurricane of 1857 that put a check upon ship-building for foreign trade, and threw that business mainly into the hands of the British, who then commenced their splendid lines of iron ocean propellers, with which we were in no condition to compete. Recently the attention of our builders has been turned in that direction, and the following results obtained: in 1868 we constructed 6 iron vessels, aggregating 2,801 tons; 1869, 10 vessels of 4,585 tons, and in 1870, 15 vessels of 8,582 tons, showing an annual increase of 100 per cent. The business is still in its infancy, but promises to become of great importance. The foregoing facts should excite anything but depression in reference to our tonnage interests.

MONSTER OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.—The screw steamer Egypt, recently launched on the Mersey, it is stated is the largest vessel afloat, with the exception of the Great Eastern. The Egypt is 440 feet in extreme length, and 435 feet long at the load line. She is 44 feet beam, and the depth of hold is 36 feet, with a measurement of 5,150 tons. The engines are capable of working up to 2,500 horse power, and it is anticipated will drive the vessel at a speed of 13 knots an hour during ordinary weather. Six immense steamers are being constructed at Belfast, which will constitute a new line between New York and Liverpool. The pioneer of the line, the Oceanic, has been rather unfortunate, having sailed a second time from Liverpool, lately, only to return again to repair a defect in her machinery. She is 440 feet in length, and built mainly of iron, with engines of 3,000 horse-power, and capacity of 6,000 tons burden. The engines are the most powerful ever used in the merchant service. Her screw is four-bladed, and of steel. The Oceanic is built to carry 200 cabin and 1,000 steerage passengers, a number that in so large a vessel will find ample room.

Signature Experts.

S. S. Packard, noted as a skillful penman, writes to the New York Mail concerning signature experts, the occasion being the late Taylor will case, which turned in great measure on the genuineness of the testator's signature. More then twenty years ago, in Cincinnati, I copied the Declaration of Independence, appending fac similes of the signer's names. Thomas Stevens, at that time editor of the Cincinnati Atlas, took occasion in a pleasant way to doubt my assertion that I had copied the signatures with a pen. To convince him, I asked him to sign his name on a sheet of paper, which he did. I immediately wrote ten copies of his signature, above and below the original, and handed him the paper for him to select his own. After a careful examination he selected one of his own. He was wrong. He tried again and again with the same result, and finally, by mere guess work, he hit the right one. And it was a remarkable fact that after he had really discovered his own, he could see the most astonishing absurdities in all the others.

Some six years ago I was speaking with a well known publisher of this city, who sat at the desk signing some checks that the book-keeper had prepared for him. The signature was of the firm, and was a peculiar one, as he wrote it. I casually remarked that that was an excellent signature for a forger. He promptly responded that there was no forger who could sign that name so as to deceive him.

"Oh, yes, there is," said I.

"Where is he?"

"He is standing at your elbow."

"Do you mean to say," said he, "that you can imitate that signature so I cannot detect the forgery?"

"I mean to say," said I, "that I think I can do it, and am willing to try it."

"If you will write that signature," he replied, so that I cannot distinguish it from my own, I will"——

"There, there, don't be rash; I should dislike to take advantage of your present excitement. If you will just write the signature at the top of that letter sheet we'll see what a little impudence can do."

He did as requested. I took the sheet and went to the bookkeeper's desk. Here I exchanged it for another of the same relative position, I imitated the signature in a very free, careless way, not attempting a servile copy, but preserving the characteristic strokes. I then very carefully wrote underneath it three faithful imitations, making four signatures, all my own. These I took to the proprietor and told him to select his own signature. With surprisingly little effort he pointed out the first signature, and at once began to criticise with severity my base imitations.

"Well," said I, "I will confess they are not as well done as I expected to do them, or as I could do them if my nerves were steady. But, really," said I, "don't you think that if one of these signatures were placed at the bottom of your ordinary check your bank would honor the check?"

"Well, no," said he, "I don't think it would."

"I suppose," said I, "there is no doubt about the top signature—that would bring the cash?"

"Oh yes, I should like to see my bank refuse that signature for an ordinary sum."

I then went to the book-keepers's desk and [illegible] the original signature.

"How about this?" said I.

He looked at the signature—then at my [illegible] imitations"—then at the crowd of interested spectators who had quietly gathered around, and who were beginning to take in the richness of the joke, and finally he burst [illegible] an expression which was a mixture of astonishment, chagrin, merriment, vexation and perplexity, and holding out his hand with unconditional surrender written all over his face, he exclaimed, "sold!"

That was the only word in the American language that could adequately express the situation.

But the sell was a very easy one and required no skill at all. The fact is that when the original signature was compared with the forgeries, the discrepancies were so palpable that "a wayfaring man, though a fool," need not be taken in; and yet, if my friend had not been a deacon, which he was—and is—and if I had been as most forgers, I could have won a nice sum, had I offered to stake it on the issue.

ROUGH JOKE ON SNYDER.—The Carson Register relates the following joke on Snyder:

A good joke has been told us on Mrs. Fair's fourth husband, Snyder, which we have not yet seen in print. Snyder is said to be the handsomest man in the United States, and was formerly a heavy coal dealer in Philadelphia, but soon after coming to this coast, a few years since, went through on stocks or something of that sort. Mrs. Fair met him in an omnibus and determined to marry him on account of his beauty. She sought an introduction and soon afterward they were married. Snyder thought it was all right, until the second night, when the fair one made him sleep [illegible] the sofa all night. Snyder [illegible] next morning, when Mrs. [illegible] a gun store and procured a [illegible] Snyder began to smell a [illegible] and went down to inquire and [illegible] "the [illegible] as to the [illegible] and disposition of [illegible] They told him, not only what [illegible] in Court, that her [illegible] was bad, but that she was a vixen, and would shoot or stab a man on the slightest provocation. Snyder looked serious, thought over for moment the harsh words he had said to her before she went for the pistols, then raising his eyes heavenward and clasping his hands together, exclaimed in an earnest tone: "I'll bet a t-h-o-u-s-a-n-d dollars I don't live an hour!"

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, Thursday, April 27, 1871.

Gold at New York, 110½.

Ordinary quotations, at this city, 90½c buying; 90@91½c selling.

Exchange—On San Francisco, ½ per cent.; on New York, 1½ per cent.; telegraphic transfers, 1¾ per cent.

Interest on 30 to 90 day loans, 1 per cent.; outside rates are on one, one and a half, and two year loans, with real estate security, 1@12 per cent per annum; short loans, 1a2 per cent. per month.

The money market is abundantly supplied and accommodations are obtained freely on unexceptionable securities.

Trade in the merchandise market is noticeably active, nearly every wholesale house being constantly engaged in turning out orders from the interior. The business prospects for the summer are of the most promising character.

Agricultural goods The demand for farm machinery has not yet manifested itself to any great extent. There have been some inquiries in the market, but as yet few sales have been made. Our importers are making the usual seasonable preparations.

Hardware—In this line, trade has been, thus far, very good, and, considering the lateness of the season, it continues remarkably good. Prices remain as heretofore quoted.

Dry Goods The summer trade is opening with good indications for the season's operations. Orders are arriving freely from both the valley and Eastern Oregon.

Building materials—We note the recent arrival of a plentiful supply of cement, plaster and lime. Prices are materially reduced. Lumber is scarce, and much difficulty is experienced in getting orders filled with anything like promptitude.

Groceries Business may be reported very fair with quotations unchanged.

Produce—This market is very quiet. The stock of wheat seems to have been mostly bought up and only small and occasional lots are now obtainable. The prices have advanced to $1 25 for good white, and $1 20 for red. The following rates, with sacks included, are $1 45@1 50. All kinds of feed have gone up about twenty-five per cent.

Provisions—[illegible] are one cent lower. Lard has declined about one cent. Eggs, ditto.

In the retail family market we find added to the usual list of green vegetables, California asparagus, 10c ⅌ lb; California green peas, 12½c ⅌ lb; Oregon radishes, $1 ⅌ doz bunches; Oregon green onions, 75c ⅌ doz bunches. Domestic fruits are scarce and high.

By the arrival of the steamship Idaho, last night, we have the Commercial Herald of the 21st inst., from which we clip the following paragraphs, which will be found of general interest to local dealers:

The receipts of Oregon produce from January 1st to date, have been as follows: Flour, qr sks, 260,723; wheat, sks, 22,7.1; oats, sks, 373; salmon, bbls, 1,427; hf bbls, 825, pkgs, 186; bacon, pkgs, 779; beef, bbls, 131; hams, pkgs, 105; butter, pkgs, 112; lard, pkgs, 313; pork, bbls, 956; dried apples, pkgs, 250, ripe do, bxs, 26,210.

Flour—The receipts from Oregon for the week have been liberal. They embrace the Idaho's cargo 2,354 bbls; [illegible]'s, of 2,200 bbls, besides 5,000 sks wheat. The purchases of the week approximate 6,000 bbls Oregon extra—Magnolia, Harrisburg and other brands—at $[illegible] 25 ⅌ 196 lbs, all in hf and qr sks. The last Panama steamer carried en route for New York about 500 bbls choice Oregon, in qr sks; also, 1100 hf sks National Mills for San Jose de Guatemala. The city jobbing trade is quite active for extras.

Bacon, hams and lard—We quote a sale of 25 trs Andrew Brown's Chicago sugar-cured hams, private; also 61 trs Procter & Gamble's Cincinnati leaf-lard at 15½c, 30 days. Sales of Oregon sides reported at 15½@[illegible] in cs, now held higher. Local supplies are inconsiderable, demand active. The following trade prices approximate current rates at the city packers: Bacon, breakfast ⅌ lb, 18c; do, belly, 17c; hams, salt, 14c; California sugar-cured, 18a19; Eastern do as follows—Whittaker's St Louis, ⅌ cask, 22c; Duffield's, 24a24½c; Oregon, 18@20c; Smith & Brown's, 18c; lard, in tins and keg, 14a14½c.

Beef and pork—The market is supplied from Oregon and local packers at our quotations, say: Pork, extra clear, bbls, $30; do do hf bbls, $16; do mess, ⅌ bbls, $26; do prime mess, ⅌ bbl, $25; beef, salt, in bbls, from $14 to $19; smoked beef, 14c.

Dairy products—The butter supply is good, and there is more activity in the market. Many dairymen have commenced packing upon a large scale. The last Oregon steamer brought 8000 doz eggs, jobbing slowly at 22c. There is a lessened supply of Eastern cheese offering from local dairies and prices for choice Californian are higher. Meats of all kinds, in brine as well as smoked, are quite scarce and holders very firm. Oregon supplies, as well as local deliveries of bacon and hams, light. Receipts of sugar-cured meats overland are continued and promise to be largely increased during the season.

There is yet a want of uniformity of action among dealers and millmen concerning prices of Oregon and Puget Sound lumber. The redwood people are, however, agreed, and stick to combination prices. The former organization is composed of much greater interests, and those more diversified. However, the result of late conferences has been to advance prices about $2 ⅌ M from the lowest cargo prices. There is yet some wavering in certain quarters, and prices not altogether settled. Cargoes of Oregon rough approximate $14@15; dressed, $21; spruce, $16 50; redwood, rough, $15. The mill price with cargo sales from northern ports, is $10@11 for timber; $18a20 for flooring.
